Capt. F. C. Tribou of South Paris, is soon to add another boat to the Pennesseewassee fleet. The boat is now being built at Bath, and is expected to be here in a few weeks. It will be propelled with steam or gasoline.

There was a flower brought to the ADVERTISER office called the Paulneyron rose. It is larger than an ordinary rose and has a sweet-smelling scent. It was raised in Mrs. W. S. Sloan's yard on Paris street. Last year she had one measuring 4½ inches across it.

The attention of the night watchman, G. F. Hathaway, was recently called to two suspicious strangers in town. They were interested in the early evening in the goods displayed in Cole's Jewelry Store, and priced rings and diamonds and eyed the surroundings suspiciously. They went to South Paris by car. Little past eleven o'clock they were met by Mr. Hathaway coming up Main street. He interviewed them and they claimed to be stopping in South Paris, and the officer suggested that they leave town at once. They complied promptly and started towards the neighboring town. Officer Bennett was notified by telephone but the strangers were not seen there that night.

Ends His Life with a Razor.

Sunday morning the village was stirred by the sad news that Harry Fuller who lives on Marston street had ended his life by cutting his throat with a razor.

Harry was the son of Darius and Emma Fuller and was born in Wilton, Aug. 26, 1876. He has lived here for the past 18 years and was employed in the shoe shop. June 10, 1905 he was married to Alice Parkman of Skowhegan.

He was a jolly, good hearted fellow who had a smile and a cheerful word for all. The only reason that can be given for his thus ending his life is that of anxiety for his mother who is suffering with a cancer. He had been without sleep for several nights and Sunday morning went to his room to rest as was supposed.

Coroner A. P. Bassett was promptly called and after a thorough investigation decided that an inquest was not necessary. The details of the case are: just about nine o'clock, Sunday morning, Fuller, who had been playing with a kitten, went to his room upstairs. His folks, thinking that he had gone to lie down, kept very quiet so not to disturb him. He had been working hard and worrying over the sickness of his mother.

A little after ten o'clock, Mrs. Fuller said to Sophia Tufts, a lady who is at the house caring for Harry's mother, that she would go upstairs and change the bed clothes. When she opened the door of Fulier's room a horrible sight confronted her. Mr. Fuller lay on the floor with a gash in the throat, the razor lying near him. She screamed loudly and Miss Tufts rushed to the room. Then the physician and coronor were summoned.

They found a small square bottle with a very little laudanum in it and the bowl which sat near him about two-thirds full of blood. It seems that he had endeavored to catch the blood and not let it get over the floor.

He had done the deed in a kneeling position and as long as his strength lasted, the blood ran into the bowl and when he was exhausted he fell forward on his face.

A letter was found, saying that his nerves were in such a condition that he could not stand it any longer and for his folks not to feel bad.

He was an inspector in the shop and a member of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, who attended the funeral in a body. Rev. S. G. Davis officiated.

He leaves beside his wife and mother, one sister, Mrs. J. T. Rowe of this place and a large circle of friend.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, burial at Riverside cemetery, South Paris.

The floral offerings were beautiful for Harry Fuller had many friends.

"When Women Love."

"When Women Love," the big, new scenic melodrama, will be presented at the Norway Opera House, Monday evening, July 30, by a large and competent company. The entire production is worthy of note, and is one of the best attractions playing in the popular priced houses.

The play is a new one, and deals comparatively with the rich and poor, the scenes being laid in New York city, prominent among them being the woman's ward at Blackwell's Island; the interior of a large factory, with the machinery in operation; the great mob scene, and the garden fete with its marvelous electrical effects.

The novel features, elaborate scenery and thrilling climaxes make it an attraction above the ordinary. It is a play that will delight and please all classes. The action of the piece is interspersed with musical specialties, rendered by well-known vaudeville artists. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats on sale at Stone's.

F. A. McDaniels has recently had a telephone put in. Number 112-13.

Mrs. E. H. Noble, who has been in poor health for a long time, is not as well.

Iva and Donald Rice were recent guests at G. F. Stone's.

Two teams collided on Paris street, Tuesday night, the result of which was a broken shaft.

Mrs. Eugene F. Smith and children went Tuesday, to visit Mrs. Smith's former home in Richmond.

Mrs. S. R. Ryerson's crimson rambler is a thing of beauty just now. There are nearly 100 clusters of roses on it, varying from three to 93 in a cluster, and measuring from one to two inches in diameter. By its side is a Dorothy Perkins rose which is a lovely thing, in color a lovely shell pink. The clusters are not as large as the crimson but there are full as many of them and the rose is as large in diameter, their branches interlock, and one cluster represents both roses.

Banquet by the Shoe Foremen to the Norway Professionals.

The banquet given by the losing base ball nine in the game of the Shoe Foremen vs. Professionals played on the Fair Grounds, Friday, July 13, was held at the Beal's hotel, Tuesday evening, July 24. The Foremen though beaten by the Norway Professionals did the right thing. The following are the names of those who were seated at the tables in the dining-roomat just 9.30 o'clock.

There were no formal after dinner speeches though each one had plenty to say and the occasion did no suffer for want of bright and witty stories and conversation. Chas. P. Barnes explained the reason of the banquet and the conditions leading up to it in a few well chosen remarks that called forth hearty applause.

The company adjourned to the parlor and listened to some fine music by Lew B. Kane of Portland, a noted bass singer, F. Elliott Tower, our own popular tenor, with Karl Lester Tower, pianist.

Walter Gray's Cottage and Steamer.

Walter L. Gray's gasoline launch was successfully launched last Wednesday afternoon. The boat is 16 feet long and equipped with a two horse power gasoline motor. Both boat and engine are built by the Racine Boat Building Co. It is finished in hard wood with brass trimmings. The boat is to be named "Madge" in honor of Mr. Gray's wife.

The cottage, which C. H. Adams is building, is expected to be ready for occupancy sometime next week. It is prettily located in Pennesseewassee Park and has a large living room with a fire place, built by Joe Cole of Paris, and warranted to have a good draft. The living room is to be finished with shingles inside. There is a wide veranda facing the lake and there are four sleeping rooms upstairs, and a kitchen.

Engagement Announced.

Mrs. Otis N. Jones of Boston announces the engagement of her daughter Mary E. Jones to Henry C. Metcalf, professor of political science at Tufts College. Prof. Metcalf and Mrs. and Miss Jones are at present traveling in Germany. The professor is a graduate of the University of Berlin and has also studied in Paris. Miss Jones is the sister of W. F. Jones of Norway and from her childhood has spent much time in Norway and has many friends here who are glad to hear of her present and future happiness.

Two Extremes and the Average

The total number of copies of the NORWAY ADVERTISER for the year ending June 30th was 149,625.

The largest edition, that of April 6th and was 3325. The smallest edition for the year was 2725 copies. The average 2827 per week.

For a long, long while, almost a quarter of a century the NORWAY ADVERTISER has given its exact circulation to any person sufficiently interested to make an inquiry. Not only this but it will give you the exact amount of money received from the sale of paper at any time—thus showing both sides of the picture.

If interested write F. W. SANBORN Norway Me. who will give your letter prompt attention.

P. S. I do job printing.

Mrs. Leona Thibauld of Lewiston, is a guest at Otto Schnuer's.

Katherine Stone is visiting her aunt, Sarah Millett, at Millettville.

Mrs. J. C. Evans of Gorham, N. H., is visiting at M. M. Chandler's.

Edith Parker is visiting relatives at Gilead and West Sumner, this week.

Mrs. G. F. Stone is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rice, of Waterford.

Stella M. Pike of the National bank is having a vacation. She is absent from town.

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Hills are away on an automobile tour this week. They will visit their former home in Waldoboro.

The Universalist Sabbath School will hold their annual picnic at Gibson's grove next week Thurday, Aug. 2. Steamer leaves wharf at 10 a. m.

George W. Locke has a fine garden. He has had green peas and pulled a part of the vines and planted again so as to have some late ones. His cucumbers, beans and corn are also looking fine. Something that is seldom found in a garden is a bed of pond lilies, but Mr. Locke has a nice bed of them in one corner of his garden. This part of the garden is in a wet place and three years ago Mr. Locke dug out quite a place and laid a wall of rock around and put in some plants. Now he has a pretty lot of lilies, quite a number of them in blossom.

Card to the Public.

To correct any wrong idea or false report in regard to the steamer Pennesseewssuee, we make the following statement:—She was hanled out and blocked up for examination. We found calking pulled out of the seams and the tar blistered and scaling off. The planking on the bottom is sound as a nut. She has been re-calked and tarred by a man who had experience in his work. She was launched last Tuesday and is as tight as a cup. We assure you that you can go up and down the lake with the same degree of safety as in times past.

We stand ready to take oath to the above statement. Thanking you for your patronage, we will do our best to please or die trying. Yours truly,

NORMAN A. CROMMETT.
EDMUND BOUCHER.

Pleasant Outing of Baptist Sunday School.

Tuesday was a "red letter" day for picnics at Norway. A better day could not have been desired for an outing. The sun did not shine very brightly as it was cloudy nearly all the time. A refreshing breeze blew throughout the day.

In addition to the picnic at Gibson's grove the members of the Baptist Sunday school spent a very pleasant day at Central Park. The park is a very pleasant and convenient place for an outing of this sort. It's shady trees, together with the swings and other conveniences are very good.

Of course dinner was about the first consideration after the crowd had gathered and got things arranged. The ladies and gentlemen had had a tug of war. They got a rope and the gentlemen were at one end with the ladies at the other. The trick was to see which could get the rope. The ladies won.

For the amusement of the children Mrs. E. S. Cotton had thoughtfully made preparations for a doughnut race.

Doughnuts with strings attached were fastened to a rope which was fastened to two trees. Five boys entered the contest, each with his hands tied behind him. The one getting the doughnut eaten first to receive a prize. A booby prize was also given. This may look like an easy trick but it proved to be a pretty hard one. Those taking part were: Merton Tower, Gerald Smith, Roy Snow, Cyril Foster and Albert Bartlett. The winners were Merton Tower who received a book, and Gerald Smith who received a knife.

In the peanut race Roy Snow won first prize.

Those present were of all ages from three months to 87 years. One guest who should receive special mention was Mrs. S. N. Johns, who is 87 years old. She seemed to enjoy herself very much, but on account of an injury received from a fall some time ago, she is a little lame and unable to travel about very much.

Flint-Stillings.

At the home of Sarah Stillings on Elm street, Whitefield, N. H., Monday morning, July 16, at 7.30 o'clock occurred a quiet home wedding. The contracting parties were Asa Flint of Norway and Nina M. Stillings of Whitefield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. J. Atkinson. They left Whitefield on the nine o'clock express for a trip through Vermont, Massachusetts, New York and Maine.

They visited Mr. Flint's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Flint on Beal street over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Flint will reside at Guildhall, N. H.

Mrs. Hannah B. Noble.

Mrs. Hannah Babb (Crockett) Noble died at her home in Austin, Minn., Monday, July 16th, at about 5 o'clock p. m. Mrs. Noble was born in Norway, April 30, 1819, the daughter of James and Martha (Pike) Crockett. She was the fourth in a family of eight children. She was married there November 15, 1838 to Nathan K. Noble who was a teacher. They moved to Cambridge, Mass., where they resided until 1869. Here Mr. Noble was postmaster for eight years, having previously taught in Cambridge. The family moved from Massachusetts to Wisconsin where they lived in Monticello for a few months and in March, 1870 they went to Minnesota, locating in Austin. Here Mr. Noble went into the grocery business and was one of the leading business men of the town for a number of years. He was also justice of peace here for twelve years. Mr. Noble died in March, 1861.

Mrs. Noble leaves a son, James S., of Minneapolis and her daughter Ada, of Austin. Also her grandson, L. N. McWhorter and a great grandchild. Her daughter Laura, mother of L. N. McWhorter died in young womanhood.

She was a member of the Universalist church. She lived to celebrate her 87th birthday surrounded by a group of friends who had known her for nearly two score years. Suffering of the infirmities of age, among them loss of sight, she seemed to enter into the spirit of the day and was the happiest of the company. A week from that day she suffered a fall and since then has been confined to her bed. She enjoyed good health until the past year. Last fall she had a slight stroke and since then she has steadily failed. Her death came at the close of a long and useful life.

S. D. Andrews has returned from his trip to the West.

R. W. Parker has returned to Portland, after enjoying a two week outing with his mother and family, by the lake.

Ellsworth Young is moving into the house formerly used for a home for old ladies, which he recently purchased.

Geo. A. Kenerson shows some homemade, hand-painted souvenir Indian paddles. The views on them are all local views.

H. J. Willard of Portland is in town, showing and talking automobiles. His firm have sold over a hundred machines this season.

Rev. and Mrs. B. S. Rideout and daughters, Florence A. and Edith M. are to spend their vacation at the seashore and Mr. Rideout's old home in Garland. Mr. Rideout is also planning a trip to the Moosehead regions.

Several of the clerks at Thomas Smiley's are having a vacation. Etta Nevers is on a three week's outing at Old Orchard. Edith Parker is having her vacation, but will return this Saturday. Emma Abbott has her vacation next week.

Norway Won Company Match.

Co. D at Wakefield.

In the shooting at Wakefield, Mass., Tuesday, the trophy company match, No. 1, was captured by the riflemen from Norway, Co. D, of the 1st Regiment of Maine. Their total or the two distances of 200 and 500 yards was 312. This was 13 above the center at 200 yard range and 19 points above at the 500 yards range, or 32 points above in all

In the skirmish practice match L. H. Daughraty was third, though it was really a tie with the second.

Maine was second in the contest for the Bancroft cup.

The trophy donated by Co. D was won by Co. H of the 1st New Hampshire Regiment.

Union Sunday School Picnic.

Tuesday, all roads from South Paris led to Gibson's Grove on the shore of the beautiful Pennesseewassee. The occasion was the union picnic of the four Sunday schools of the South Paris churches.

Conveyance to the grove by barge, hay racks, single and double teams and some came over on the car and took the steamer to the grove. All children under fourteen were carried in the teams free. The steamer Pennesseewassee, which has been out of service for several days, was put into use again Tuesday. It surely was a jolly party that had assembled. Young men, old men, young ladies, old ladies and children, but all coming for a good time, and the old people forgot that they were old and entered into the sports of the day with as much vigor as the younger people.

The forenoon was given up to getting ready for dinner, which is always the most important part of any occasion of this kind, putting up hammocks and arranging for the events of the afternoon.

Lemonade and coffee were furnished by the Sunday school committees, the people carrying the rest of the food themselves and gathering about in groups for dinner.

After dinner Rev. A. K. Baldwin, pastor of the Congregational church, and Rev. J. W. Chesbro, pastor of the Baptist, chose sides for a game of ball, which was played in a field near the grove, the score being 11 to 7 in favor of Rev. Baldwin's side.

L. S. Sessions and A. F. Stevens were at the grove with a large load of bananas, oranges, ice cream, etc., and did a good business.

After the ball game various amusements were resorted to, some playing croquet and horseshoes, while others went boating, boats and canoes having been provided for the occasion. Still others enjoyed a swing, while several of the young men tried their muscle at long and high jumping.

Those who desired to be more quiet were amply provided for, as there were numerous hammocks and seats, where those so inclined could rest, About five o'clock the crowd broke up and returned to their homes.

W. R. Kimball and wife of Hastings were in the two villages last Wednesday.

Thomas Bradbury's family are spending two weeks at the Crockett cottage by the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pike of Portland are visiting their cousins, A. L. F. Pike and family.

J. O. Crooker has set a hot blast wood furnace in Charles Libby's new house, on Paris street.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Locke leave Monday for Higgins Beach where they will spend a week at their cottage.

Guptil & Merrill, who have been running the merry-go-round on Whitman street have gone to Mechanic Falls.

The Norway Water Co. are to refund the 5 per cent. bonds, coming due Sept. 1st, with 4 per cent. bonds, issued in $100 and $500 pieces. The total issue is $50,000.

Mt. Hope Rebekah lodge will hold an all-day picnic at Gibson's grove, Thursday, August 9, with arrangements for those unable to be there in the daytime to come to supper.

Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Witham came from Westbrook in their auto to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Witham. Mr. Witham is an invalid, not able to be out of doors, but it is hoped he is gaining slowly. The doctor returned to Westbrook, Tuesday.

George R. Howe, who has been prospecting and mining in Greenwood, returned to Norway the first of the week. Doubtless he was a little surprised to find his brother, Freeland Howe jr., had wooed, won and married a young lady in the few days he was away.

About 3 o'clock Wednesday morning a wonderful phenomenon was seen by night watchman G. F. Hathaway and Carl Crommett. The darkness lifted and it became almost as light as day for a minute. It was so light that the trees and foliage on the side of Pike's hill were easily seen.

Freeland Howe, Jr. received his first order for laboratory work the 25th inst., through Chas. Gilman Hyde, Prof. of Berkley College, with whom he was associated in Philadelphia and Harrisburg, Pa., in laboratory work. Mr. Hyde found no one in California who could do the work, hence it was sent to Mr. Howe.

Myron L. Richardson, the 16 years old son of Artuhur Richardson of Denmark, is at A. D. Kilgore's, Norway Lake, nursing a bad leg. He cut it between ankle and knee some two weeks ago. The wound was not thought to be dangerous, but symptoms of blood poisoning set in and he has had a bad time of it. It is improving now.

The Wildmeres of Harrison were here ready for base ball, Saturday afternoon, and the Radcliffes were also ready for the battle of bats and ball, but the shower came on even before the hour of meeting at 3 o'clock, and not only flooded the grounds but lasted till a late hour in the afternoon. This was a disappointment to many.

The Norway Democrats have secured the Mrs. L. M. Lunt store for a club room, and will open it for that purpose, Saturday. Any democrat can become a member of the club till election by paying twenty-five cents and signing the by-laws. The club will be fitted up for games, and several copies of the democratic daily papers of the State will be kept on file.

Challenged to Play Ball.

The business men and clerks have challenged the Professionals for a game of ball. The challenge was sent in at the banquet at Beal's hotel, Tuesday night. It is not yet known whether they will accept it or not. The business men are very anxious to play and feel confident that they can win but the Professionals seem a little shy.

The trophy cup to be played for is a unique specimen of the Goldsmith's art. It was handed to County Attorney Charles P. Barnes, pitcher and manager of the Professionals last Thursday morning by A. L. Cook, with a request to name date and place for the game.

The cup was left on exhibition at this office.

George W. Horne of Lewiston, is with his family at their lakeside cottage.

Band concert at Central Park this Friday evening followed by dancing.

Lee M. Smith and family are to have a two weeks' vacation at the Green Dragon.

Next Sunday will be the last service at the Baptist church, before the summer vacation.

John F. Horne of Portland, was the guest of his brother, H. L. Horne, over Sunday.

Rev. C. R. Tenney and family of Auburn, are spending their vacation at F. A. Danforth's.

Mrs. H. L. Bartlett and children are at Mrs. Bartlett's mother's, Mrs. L. N. Stearn's, for a few weeks.

Mrs. Alice Parkman Fuller accompanied her father to Skowhegan where she is to remain for the present.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Nevers, Etta Nevers and Mrs. A. J. Nevers have taken a cottage at Old Orchard for two weeks.

Dr. A. Thompson and family are at Rock Island, Lake Pennesseewassee. Mrs. Thompson and Maud Thompson have been in California the past winter.

A party composed of Lelia Gammon, Iona Moore, Guy Emery and Arthur Richardson were at Moose pond, Otisfield, after pond lilies Sunday and returned with a large quantity of them.

Firemen's Drill.

The firemen's drill which was given Friday evening drew out almost as much of a crowd as a band concert. The principal feature was a contest of the several hose companies. Each company had two lengths of hose in coil to straighten out and couple, attach nozzle and connect with hydrant or with a Siamese valve, open up and get a stream going. Hose company No. 4 made the best record, 40 seconds, though it had a slightly better chance than the others.

The men got very much interested and are anxious to try it again. Meanwhile the hook and ladder company made a practice run and put up their extension ladder on Billings block, and afterwards the old Pacific was limbered up and did good work throwing up a stream, with the brakes well manned. A number of new rubber coats and several valves and other apparatus have recently been added to the equipment of the fire department.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price. 50 cents per box.

Another Day.

The east grows gray with light,
A rosy beam of morning pierces night's
Dark curtains, and the sun
Swings grandly thro the rift, the day's begun,
The dew drops sparkle, and the sleeping grass
Awakes and shivers as the breezes pass,
And joyous songsters flit from tree to tree,
The world is wide awake once more for me.
And all the hours await
The record of my passion, love and hate;
Sweet unpolluted hours!
Fragrant with perfume of a thousand flowers;
Fresh from Omnipotence, a priceless gift,
Each rosary of hours is set adrift,
That I may tell my longings, pain and needs,
And penitence and hopes on these my beads.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Circus.

We went to the circus, yes, we did. It was a childish performance, we knew it all the time, not Barnum's and Bailey's, but our. You see we are old and growing older every day. If we were going to have all sorts of experiences, it was time we saw the circus. Of course we wore our mouth open, chawed peanuts, yanked gum, drank lemonade and fanned and fanned. But we found a Kindred Spirit, we did, we sat right side of him and chawed together.

The circus people cut up all sorts of shines and monkey shines, horses paraded, raced, reared up fore and aft, lay down and went to sleep. When Kindred Spirit observed with a delicious drawl, "Say dad, I bet them horses have been trained," p'raps, thought I and sot the closer. K. S. was really worth while. One of the party suggested putting him on ice, but the lemonade men had a corner on it, so one of the party bought a two cent fan for ten, and fanned the back of his neck vigorously. This had a soothing effect, so he subsided into, "L-o-o-k, dad, just l-o-o-k."

All sorts of folks came in and did all sorts of things. Finally some folks in purple, came in and began to climb up and up. We held our breath, to be relieved somewhat by K. S. observing, "Gorry, dad, they are going clear to the top of the camp."

They had an automobile clear up in top of the "camp." It looked rather scary up there. Then they put a lady dressed in white in it. K. S. opened his mouth to say "gorry," but it was all over, it was too late, leaving him gasping like a wet fish. We left him saying, "Say dad, did you see her upside down? they oughter tied her in."

Mrs. Cornelia Andrews is very sick with heart trouble.

For years we have had some cherries, but could never have any on account of the birds. This year we put a stuffed chicken hawk in the cherry tree, and have eaten cherries in peace and comfort.

Past, Present a Future Pain
The best "past" paint is paint which has worn evenly, leaving the surface ready for repainting without the need of expensive scraping and "burning-off."
The best "present" paint is the paint which is applied with least labor, covers the most surface per gallon, and looks best when on.
The best "future" paint is the paint which lasts without cracking or peeling, affording perfect protection for the greatest number of years.

Regarding Tuberculin Test.

Letter from P. H. Howe.

"What do you think of the tuberculin test?" I am asked by almost every man that I meet, since I had my herd tested and found nine out of thirteen diseased.

I answer by first telling what I did think before I had them tested. I did think it nonsensical, unjust and uncalled for, save for the purpose af giving the veterinarians, cattle commissioners, and others, some work to do and make high pay that they might live on Easy street the greater part of the time, doing nothing. I do not mean to say that I thought there was no such disease as tuberculosis in cows, but I did think that if a cow needed to be killed that an intelligent farmer would know it without the test, as I had one 12 years ago that acted wrong, one that I boug t.

In a short time she began to run down and cough, which led me to think her diseased. I notified Dr. Bailey, who sent Commissioner Daggett who killed her on sight. Since that time I have seen no signs of disease in my herd. I am a patron of the Portland Creamery Co., and was approached by the collector, A. B. Farnum one morning, with an offer of 2 cents a pound more for butter fat if I would have my cows tested, and if I would not have them tested I would get the market price as usual. I regarded this offer as a business proposition, and being confident that every animal in my herd was perfectly free from tubercul sis, I decided to have them tested, which was done by Dr. C. W. Purcell of Biddeford, finding nine out of thirteen diseased, which was much to my disappointment.

The Cattle Commissioner, Mr. Deering of Saco, was notified at once and arrived Monday, July 9th, and then I found out what could be done. I could keep the cows if I chose to but could put no product on the market, either cream, milk or butter, neither could I sell one under the penalty in such cases, simply quarantined at my expense. All I could say was, "Kill them as they are no good to me now you have stopped my income, and the sooner they are off my hands the better."

The killing began Monday afternoon, much to my dissatisfaction, as the first one, as far as could be seen, had no signs of tuberculosis in the lungs. The second one killed was found badly diseased when examined, and so the killing went on and nearly all were found very badly diseased. Finding so many in such terrible condition I have come to the conclusion that the tuberculin did its work thoroughly, found the germs upon which to re-act, although invisible to the naked eye, which some time would be as plain to be seen as any of them. There were three or four of mine that in my opinion would have shown symptoms of disease within a year if they had lived that long, and that those less diseased had taken it from these three or four.

Yes, I have radically changed my mind in regard to the tuberculin test. I can say I am satisfied that it has been a benefit to me and would have been more so had I used it sooner, when only one or two would have been found diseased. I can only say that I did not know, but I know now and have paid for the knowledge that we are not sure that our cows are free from tuberculosis without the test as mine were apparently healthy and in good condition. My income from these cows averaged $50 per month for the past year.

I cannot afford and will not in the future keep a cow in my possession that will re-act under the tuberculin test. If eny one could have told me and made me believe that my cows were in the condition they were, before they were tested, and said that I must keep them, and sell the cream and use it in my family as I have done, ignorant of their condition, and offer me $10,000 besides, it would be no temptation to me. Now you know what I think of the test, and I think that the Board of Health in every city throughout the world should prohibit the sale of milk from untested cows, and I hope the time is not far distant when it will be made universal that according to law every cow giving milk will have to be tested often enough that a man won't have to lose his whole herd as I have.

I thank the Board of Health of Portland, who indirectly are causing the farmers to have their cows tested, also Dr. Purcell, who did the work here, and Commissioner Deering, who showed great interest in explaining to me the condition of affairs in connection with my case.

I am no newspaper reporter and ask nothing for this article, but thinking it may be of some good to the public I give it to be published. There have been about 200 cows tested already in this vicinity and 18, according to the test, found diseased. As far as I know the farmers are in favor for the tuberculin test.

Maine Sweet Corn.

The Pack is Likely to Be Small of the Genuine Article.

Estimates of the Maine acreage planted in sweet corn this year, vary more or less and are necessarily based on information which is not all accurate. But well posted Portland packers figure that Maine's 1906 sweet corn acreage is less than normal by anywhere from 30 to 40 per cent., which of course cannot help affecting the sizes of the pack. Conditions are regarded by the packers in this State as very encouraging. So far as prices are concerned, they look for an ultimately higher corn market than has ruled for a year or more.

The stock of old pack fancy corn left is small, and packers don't care for but very little more future business. The majority are not accepting any orders for futures. General satisfaction is felt among Maine packers of corn because of the passage by Congress of a law to prevent interstate commerce in fraudently labelled canned corn. Corn canning is an important industry in this State, and in the past it has suffered from the fact that corn that was neither canned nor grown in Maine was sold to consumers under Maine labels.

Maxims' Maxims.

Even the small blessings are often under estimated.

A few small troubles sometimes fret a person more than one great one.

Those who go slow at first often come out ahead of those who run at the beginning.

The man who thinks he knows "most all of it" has but little idea of the magnitude of the remainder.

We often hear it asked concerning a close-fisted man, "How much is he worth?" If that ment how much he is worth to the world we should be obliged to express it in "cyphers."

By the Hermit of Mt Mica.

Hints for the Canning Season.

Fruit cooked in cans keeps its shape better than is possible when dipped from kettle to can after cooking; the flavor is more like that of the fresh fruit because none of it escapes in steam while cooking and dipping it, and the fruit is more sure to keep in perfect condition because can, tops and rubbers become perfectly sterilized while the fruit in them is being cooked.

If the fruit is put into the cans as fast as prepared, the needed amount of sugar being scattered among it, the can filled with cold water and the top put on, it will not discolor while the remainder is being prepared, even if it stands several hours before being cooked. The fact that being in the can and shut away from the air keeps the fruit from discoloring, makes it possible to prepare it one can at a time, in odd minutes, when there would not be time to prepare, cook and can even one quart, and it will often happen that a quantity of fruit can be made ready for cooking early in the morning.

If the house mother be tactful she can easily persuade others of the family to help with this part of the work. A very little showing will enable the small boy or girl to fill the cans as well as any one could do it and they will be very proud to feel that they are "really and truly" helping mother can the fruit for winter.

If there are many cans it saves time to use the boiler to cook them in, but for six or less, a large pail will answer every purpose. One woman uses the reservoir on her cook-stove for the purpose; the writer uses a steam cooker, and we both have success. When the frnit is cooked in the can there will be considerable space at the top caused by shrinkage, but it does no harm whatever and it is a waste of time and labor to fill, unless one is short on cans and does not want to waste the space.

Put rubber and top on the can before cooking, but do not screw the top down more than enough to hold it in place. Tighten the top as much as possible when taken from water, and again when cold.

Fruits do not need as long cooking as vegetables, and it is impossible to give any rule as to time, because even fruits of the same kind in different stages of ripeness require different lengths of time for cooking.

As a matter of personal experience I will say that I put the cans into cold or tepid water and bring to a boil. I then watch them, and when the water in the cans seems to be boiling I note the time and allow as much longer as I would for fruit cooking in a kettle. Sometimes when cooking peaches, plums, or other meaty fruits, I take a cover from a can and try the fruit. If it is done I replace the cover and take all cans out, otherwise I allow it to cook as much longer as seems needful. Testing one can is sufficient, and does no harm.

Amended and Abridged.

"Ebenezer Squeer wa'n't much," said Aunt Abigail. "If the Lord wanted him, He's welcome, as fur as I'm concerned. If He was callin' men accordin' to merit, Ebenezer would be waitin' a long time after some of the rest of us was taken. The Lord moves in mysterious way and just why He wanted Ebenezer Squeer is one of 'em. But He's got him, whether He wanted him or not, and the association might as well pass resolutions of regret if it will make the burden any lighter for the widow.

"The text of 'em was the hardest work we had to do. I drafted 'em first, but when the association got through amendin' 'em the original copy had to be rewrote. I begun it, 'Whereas, our late lamented brother Ebenezer Squeer has been called to realms of everlastin' bliss,' etc. Melva Driggs moved to strike out the word 'lamented'; that was struck out as a concession to the minority. Then Zerophy Wilkins moved to strike out the word 'called.' She said the statement about 'realms of everlastin' bliss' was purely guesswork, with the chances again' its bein' so. She moved to substitue 'from fields of labor' for 'realms of everlastin' bliss,' makin' it read, "Whereas, our late brother, Ebenezer Squeer, has been called from fields of labor.' Melvina Driggs wanted to know if Zerophy ever saw a field where Ebenezer Squeer had labored. She said such a resolution was a deliberate slur on every workin' person within the range of her voice, which is considerable when she is het up. She moved to strike out everything after 'called,' makin' it read, 'Whereas, the late Ebenezer Squeer has been called,' and as nobody could find anything to complain of in that sentiment, we let it stand at that.

"I'm free to confess when we got 'em finally adopted there wasn't much meat in 'em. I took a copy of 'em and they read:

"Whereas, the late Ebenezer Squeer has been called, and, Whereas, our beloved sister, Sophy Squeer, is left to mourn; and, Whereas, the Women's Charitable Association realize that God's afflicitions are only blessing in disguise, now, therefore, Be it Resolved, that this association extends its regret, and sympathy to Sister Sophy Squeer, an honored, beloved and respected member of this association, and that an engrossed copy of these resolutions be sent to sister Sophy."

Gold in Maine.

In the spring of '94, three brethers by the name of Bedreau went to Houghton to cut wood. One of them having some knowledge of gold mining, found some gold bearing rock that, when assayed proved to contain gold and silver to the amount of $11.50 a ton.

They then secured the land adjacent to the find and subsequent assays proved a large body of ore. Thereupon a company was formed and stock sold. Several mining engineers who made extensive examinations of many tons of ore on 100 acres pronounced it one of the greatest ore bodies known.

The formation is a mica schist containing gold and silver as annalyzed by different assayers in the United States. The schist gives an average of 13.50, the quartz, $5.00. Compare this with any of the biggest Western propositions.

Beside these ore bodies, the mine is surrounded by every natural facility for working, such as timber and a water power of 5,000 horse power, all on the property.

40,000 tons of ore are now in sight, ready for reduction as soon as a cyanide plant can be installed. This territory is considered by mining experts as one of the richest places in the United States.

Chauffeurs Must Have Care.

Whether the auto shall or shall not use our public roads, would seem to rest in a great measure with the wishes of the majority of the people, who own, maintain and control the highways.

Automobilists, who drive their cars at a reckless rate of speed and who open the throttle and try to escape when they accidently or carelessly run into a team or person, are simply piling up trouble for the future of this form of recreation. The other day a team was run into and the driver badly cut and bruised, but the chaps in the hook-wagon managed to escape, another man was run down and killed outright, and the drivers of the automobile got away. Incidents like these are of almost every day occurrence, but there will come a day of reckoning, when the public will rise and insist upon legislation to protect themselves.

The situation is fairly stated by the Philadelphia Public Ledger when it says: "The growing record of victims of the automobile scorcher, a list of the maimed and dead, already appalling in its magnitude, must sooner or later stir the public to such measures as shall put an imperative stop to the misuse of the roads and streets by this class of miscreants. The life of no man or woman is safe for a moment on the public high ways. In the latest case, when a man was run down as he alighted from a car, the only excuse offered was that the driver did not see his victim 'in time to stop.'

"The roads were never intended for the use of vehicles driven at such speed. It is no answer to say that progress cannot be stopped because those who laid out the roads could not forsee the needs and requirements of a later generation. It is because the public has been patient and long-suffering that the drivers of these modern cars of Juggernaut, relentlessly grinding their way over the bodies of their victims, driving the horse and the pedestrian from the avenues built for them—have been conceded equal rights on the highways. They have misused their privileges and they must not complain if they are required to pay the penalty of their misdeeds.

"The modern express train, moving at the rate of seventy miles an hour, has just as good a claim to occupy the ordinary roads as have those who drive their automobiles over them at immoderate speeds. These persons have shown themselves unresponsible either to restraint or law or the moving influences of humanity. Unless the whole system shall be radically reformed, the inevitable result will be a strict prohibition in place of toleration, and the relegation of all machines capable of moving at a higher rate of speed than that fixed by law to the race track, or to special rights of way provided by those who use them."

The summer residence Association of Bar Harbor, has taken action this season, that automobiles should be excluded from Mt. Desert. The initatory step in this matter was taken by the summer residents several years ago; their action was seconded by the officials of the four townships on the island, who passed an ordinance which practically excluded motor cars from the sacred precincts of Maine's most beautiful isle.

The ordinance, which had it been unqualifiedly prohibitive would have been unconstitutional, was fashioned with such tact that it accomplished its end, at the same time not exceeding the judicial rights of a town ordinance. It was certainly unique and has attracted the attention of lawyers in the large metropolitan centers, who are trying to devise some judicial scheme to protect certain parks and drives from the maddening clatter and dust of the motor carriage, which so terrifies some horses of high mettle that they become unmanageable even to skilled coachmen.

Last summer one attorney journeyed from New York to Mt. Desert, with no other purpose in view than to study this unique ordinance.

This ordinance, over which Bar Harborites are so secretly pleased and pride themselves, excludes automobiles from every road on the island of Mt. Desert except a rough, rugged thoroughfare in a practically inaccessible portion of the interior of the island, the hours for operating the motor vehicle being further restricted to the unattractive hours of 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. inclusive. This is not prohibitive legislation, to be sure; but it is highly restrictive to say the least.

It would be bad for every town in the United States to have a different law, or every State for that matter. There should be some just law, uniform, to give everyone a fair chance for business or enjoyment. Of course the best way would be to build automobile roads for the machine, but the man without the automobile would not want to be taxed for maintaining this road.

Our roads could be made wider, so half might be used for carriages and half for autos, with a fence between.

Certain hours in the day the road could be given for the use of the auto. That would be a little relief on the nerves of the people, on our illy constructed roads for the automobile.

In the meantime great care must be taken if both horse and automobile are to continue to use our roads as at present, with the understanding that if chauffeurs get "too funny," the people will deny them the privilege of running their autos over their roads.

Alta Whitman, who has been at the home of her uncle, A. L. Whitman, is boarding at C. O. Foster's at Bethel village.

Middle Intervale.

Sunday, July 22, Rev. Mr. Lovett preached a deep sermon at the Baptist church here from the 13th chapter of Mathew founded on the parables found there, one being "The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened." Leaven is all pervading and powerful. Though silent and hidden it soon effects the whole mass. So would divine truth be in its influence on individuals and on communities. The most silent forces in nature are the most powerful. There is a correspondance in natural things with spiritual, so spake Jesus in parables.

We should not be discouraged an account of the mixture of evil with good in God's church, for it has always been so and will be so to the end of time. It can be of no avail to anyone to be a member of Christ's visible church, unless he also have the character of a christian. To judge of persons by their wealth, or that of their relatives, or by any merely external extinctions, and not by their character and conduct, is evidence of a little mind and of a proud heart.

The truths of deepest value are slowly but surely coming, and preached and lived by God's faithful ones, thus taking root, and will speed until the new Jerusalem indeed will come down from God out of Heaven and fill the whole earth.

Quite a Different Matter.

"I think I may say," he announced with some pride, "that I never made a fool of myself in my life."

"Are you sure of that?" asked his companion incredulously. "You'd better think again."

"Oh, well," was the reply, after a moment of thought, "of course I can recall several instances in which some girl has made a fool of me, but you must certainly concede that that is quite a different matter. No man escapes that."—Chicago Post.

COUNTRY PORK PACKING.

For the Best Profits the Usual Farm Methods Do Not Answer.

From the time the carcass is hung on the hooks the farmer must remember that to make the most profit he must not follow the usual farm methods employed, but, like the big packers, cater to the public taste, advises a correspondent in Orange Judd Farmer. First cut the backbone out of the carcass just where it joins the ribs. Then from each half trim off the hams and shoulders. From the sides remove the spareribs and lay them aside to sell immediately.

The parts are now divided as follows: The hams, bacon and shoulders to put down in salt. There are two strips of flitch, the backbone, the pig's feet, the spareribs and the head. From these will come the meat for sausage, the fat for lard and the trimmings for special sale.

People are glad to give 15 or 20 cents for a set of pig's feet, while spareribs are a scarce and toothsome dainty easily worth 25 to 35 cents a side. After trimming the sweet meat off the backbone the latter when cut into sections sells at 5 to 7 cents per pound. The cheeks and meat from the head make sausage, while the skull boiled is excellent for winter laying chickens.

Making Fine Sausage.

In making sausages I cut the fat well out so it will not be too greasy. Fat enough to fry is plenty. If possible, get three pounds of beef loin or flank to mix with every twenty-five pounds of pork to modify the taste. After running the meat through a sausage grinder season with salt and pepper and moderate with sage or some other spice. Sausage equals about a pound to the pint, and if there is too much sausage for immediate sale put it in three or five gallon crocks and run about an inch of melted lard over it. This will keep it sweet all winter if maintained at an even temperature. It need be opened only as enough is sold to empty a crock. After rendering the lard put into crocks and sell as the demand requires. Good sausage brings readily 15 cents per pound, lard about the same.

After the hams and bacon have been smoked they will be ready for marketing about February. Last year country cured hams were worth from 14 to 16 cents, bacon 15 to 18 and shoulders 8 to 10 cents. There is no comparison of the commercially cured products of the big packers in the same class with the home prepared meats, and when people once get the opportunity to buy country products they will always be patrons.

Where the Profit Comes In.

Now as to financial results. Take a hog weighing at home 200 pounds on a basis of a five cent market, live weight. Its value is $10. If fat the hog loses about 20 per cent, or 40 pounds, leaving 160 pounds edible portion. Approximately the dressing will be: Two hams, thirty pounds; two shoulders, twenty-four pounds; four strips bacon, twenty-eight pounds; spareribs, head, feet and backbone, thirty-five pounds, leaving about forty-five pounds for sausage and lard. The meats to be smoked will increase about 10 per cent in weight in the pickle, but lose about the same in smoking, so the selling weight is the same as the dressing weight. The following are very conservative prices for a country dressed hog: Thirty pounds ham at 14 cents, $4.20; twenty-eight pounds bacon at 15 cents, $4.20; twenty-four pounds shoulder at 9 cents, $2.16; forty-five pounds lard or sausage at 12½ cents, $5.60; thirty-five pounds backbone, spareribs, etc., at 6 cents, $2.10; soap fat, about 25 cents; total, $18.51; cost of hog, $10; profit, $8.51.

Farm Wages Are Not So Bad.

Farm wages are not so bad after all when compared on a fair basis with the pay of city help. Thus, according to statistics quoted by Superintendent J. J. Linsley of the New Haven (Conn.) state employment bureau, the average factory hand in the cities gets $12 a month after paying for board and washing, while the average farm hand gets $14 a month, including board and washing, the comparison showing a balance of $2 per month in favor of the farm laborer. In this part of the country most farm hands earn more than $14 net and are correspondingly better off, but they do not handle quite so much cash as does the mill hand, and they do not feel as flush on pay day. As a matter of fact, their chances to get ahead in the world are in nearly every way much better.—American Cultivator.

Potato Bugs Immune to Poison.

At a meeting of the Somerset county (N. J.) board of agriculture the state entomologist in speaking of fighting insects with paris green and similar stomach poisons said there was a widespread complaint that the former was not as effective as it used to be. He believed this to be due in part to a difference in the making of the material, but also to the fact that potato bugs were getting somewhat accustomed to the poison and partially immune to its effects.

Agricultural Notes.

Protect strawberry beds and spinach with a light covering if needed.

A Boston vegetable house reports having sold greenhouse cucumbers every month in the year past.

Those apple buyers who held out longest, trying to buy for $1, are now chasing about the country in vain to find what they want at $1.50 to $1.75 or more, remarks American Cultivator.

The Aroostook potato crop increased during the past ten years from 1,496,929 bushels in 1894 to 5,341,735 bushels in 1903. The yield for the ten years has averaged well over a million barrels, worth about $1 per barrel.

Filth and Disease.

Filthy houses and yards invite disease, and only failure can result where filth is allowed to accumulate.

My Hair is Extra Long

Feed your hair; nourish it; give it something to live on. Then it will stop falling, and will grow long and heavy. Ayer's Hair Vigor is the only hair-food you can buy. For 60 years it has been doing just what we claim it will do. It will not disappoint you.

"My hair used to be very short. But after using Ayer's Hair Vigor a short time it began to grow, and now it is fourteen inches long. This seems a splendid result to me after being almost without any hair."—MRS. J. H. PIPER, Colorado Springs, Colo.

With its usual promptness in printing the first authentic and reliable accounts of all important discoveries in the field of medicine, McClure's offers its readers in its August number an extremely interesting article "Cancer—Can it be Cured?" by C. W. Saleeby, M. D., F. R. S. (Edin.) which gives an account of experiments made by Dr. John Beard in the treatment of that disease by Trypsin; experiments that seemed to prove that the active agent of the pancreas will destroy the malignant cancer cells and bring about an absolute cure.

PROOF OF TRUTH

Mr. B. P. Mullen well known Boston caterer. says, "I was born near St. Patrick's church in Lowell, Mass., and remember Fr. John O'Brien giving my mother a bottle of the Medicine which bears his name and which he procured at Carleton & Hovey's drug store. It has been used in my family for nearly 50 years. It has cured me of bronchitis and was used by my father as our family remedy." (Signed) B. P. Mullen, Caterer 19 Leroy Street, Boston, Mass.

Here again is more convincing evidence of the truth of "The Story of Father John's," and the merit of Father John's Medicine. For 50 years. it has been the family medicine in many Lowell families. More Father John's Medicine is sold in the city where Father John O'Brien lived and labored than in any other city of the same size. Lowell people know the value of this old medicine.

If you only knew what Father John's Medicine would do for you. If you could come to Lowell and talk with Lowell people, you would be convinced of its genuine worth.

If you are weak and run down, or if you have any throat or lung trouble, get a bottle of Father John's Medicine today.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Saturday's Big Shower.

Saturday's thunder shower was the heaviest we have had this summer. The lightning struck several trees at, or near the village. One was at the Fair grounds and another was in John Hazen's dooryard. The place where it struck was about 12 feet from the house, and Mr. Hazen's daughter, Evelyn M. Hazen, was prostrated. A physician was called at once and she soon revived.

The picnic of the Methodist Sunday school, which was being held at Gibson's grove, was broken up by the shower, and many of those who went got a drenching.

Palmer Hurries Home.

Edgar F. Palmer, for 14 years a member of the Boston police force, has been spending his vacation here with his cousin, Frank Mann. While here burglars entered his house at 479 Dudley street, Boston, during the absence of his wife and daughter and took all their jewelry. Thinking the Boston police department needed his services, Mr. Palmer cut his stay short and hurried home.

Charles Frost of Boston has been in Norway the past week.

Mrs. Izah T. Sanborn of Bangor, visited in Norway the past week.

A pine tree near Horace Dinsmore's was struck by lightning Saturday afternoon.

The farmers who have begun haying are having a hard time of it and probably all of them are not taking it as calmly as the man who, when he found his cucumber patch all under water said, "It will drown the bugs anyway." There is nothing like looking on the sunny side.

John Hayes, the well known baker sold his business to parties in Yarmouth, represented by C. R. Ranger. They are to take possession August 15. Mr. Hayes has met with success and many regrets are expressed that his health compelled him to dispose of his business.

Harry Packard has received first prize in the Boston Sunday Herald's contest for the best vacation story. The article is a story of a summer's outing spent at Lake Pennesseewassee. Considering that writers from all the New England states entered this contest this is quite an honor for Norway's young journalist.

Tessa and Grace Thibodeau are visiting friends and relatives in Massachusetts. They will visit their brother, Irving Thibodeau, who is bookkeeper for Joe E. Teel & Co. of Medford. Irving is doing well and is liking his position. He will have a ten days' vacation commencing Aug. 11 and his sisters will return with him.

About 30 people chartered two launches Friday night and sailed up Lake Pennesseewassee to tender a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glidden at their summer home. The surprise was complete and a merry evening was spent, the party returning early Saturday morning. A bountiful collation was spread for the guests.

Brown--Howe.

The marriage of Sarah Brown of Bangor and Freeland Howe, Jr., of Norway occurred Friday, July 20th, at Gorham, N. H. at high noon at the Universalist parsonage, by Rev. Mr. Ball. W. F. Jones of Norway was the best man, and Mrs. W. F. Jones, matron of honor.

Miss Brown and Mr. Howe came to Norway from Bangor Thursday evening and Miss Brown went to the home of her class and room mate at Colby college, Mrs. W. F. Jones, at whose home she was visiting at the time of the engagement, only the Sunday before. Friday morning Miss Brown and Mr. Howe, accompanied by Mr. Howe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Freeland Howe, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones and Dr. Harry P. Jones, left on the forenoon train for Gorham, N. H. At Bryant's Pond they were joined by Judge and Mrs. A. E. Morrison, Mr. Howe's sister.

After the ceremony dinner was served at the Mt. Madison House. The party went by the electrics to Berlin, N. H. and took the 2.40 express to South Paris. They found the electric car decorated for the occasion and a merry party of their friends with horns and rice, to accompany them to Norway. The order of the exercise was to blow horns and throw rice, and repeat. This part of the program was under the direct management of Dr. Jones, and everyone who knows him knows it was a success. Yards of broad white ribbon were used in the decorations, the most noticeable being a white rosette with long streamers Mr. Howe was forced to wear pinned on his shoulder.

The party had supper at the Beal's hotel, and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Howe had a quiet row up Lake Pennesseewassee to the Howe cottage, Cedar Lodge, where they are at present.

The young people had planned to call on them that evening with the Norway Brass Band and other forms of entertainment, but were disappointed because the steamer Pennesseewassee was out of commission.

This is a case in which we cannot write up the bridal costumes. Really, we think it much better for when so many clothes are gotten together by the bride before marriage it seems to imply a lack of faith in the husband's being able to supply the need, when they are wanted.

The happy couple had very pretty and valuable presents from their friends, among them we notice a check for $800 from Freeland Howe.

The sickness of Mr. Brown prevented Mrs. Howe's parents from attending the marriage of their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe were members of the class of 1894, Colby college, and while they have not met since their college days were acquainted as classmates are. Mrs. Howe has been a very successful teacher, the assistant teacher in the Hampden high school, and Mr. Howe is a noted biologist, his specialty being the analysis of drinking water, and he has travelled over much of the United States where there has been trouble with the cities' or towns' water supply systems. These waters after analysis he treats with filters and chemicals. He is one of the leading men in this branch of biology in the United States.

Mr. Howe has received the degree of doctor of philosophy from Harvard University. He is now bacteriologist for Philadelphia Water Board. Mrs. Howe was engaged to teach literature and mathematics in Bangor high school the coming year. Mrs. Howe is the daughter of George W. Brown of Bangor, who is proprietor of a sale stable.

Mr. Howe fitted up a laboratory in Norway last spring, having become tired of the wandering life he had been obliged to lead in his business. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Howe have decided to build them a residence in Norway and make this their home.

Picnic at Gibson Grove.

Saturday, about 100 members and friends of the Methodist church assembled at Gibson Grove for an all-day picnic and clam bake. Beside those who went in teams and boats there were two large barge loads and people along the road heard this yell:

Rah! Rah! Rah! Here we go;
A whole lot of Methodists
To Gibson Grove.

The weather in the forenoon could not have been better for the occasion and playing croquet, boating and other amusements made the time pass quickly.

In the afternoon the shower made things rather disagreeble but the crowd made the best of it and got into the steamer Pennesseewassee which is hauled up at the grove for repairs, and pulled down the curtains and were safe from the rain.

Although no literary program had been arranged there were plenty present who entertained with songs and readings. Baked clams were also served here.

The second barge which went up after dinner received the full benefit of the shower but taken all together it was a very successful affair.

Mrs. Wm. C. Leavitt had an automobile ride last Friday afternoon. This was the first ride she has had for four years and was not afraid of meeting an automobile.

Mrs. Eugene Lebroke and son returned Friday, from a visit to relatives at Cape Island, N. S. Mrs. J. C. Matherson, who has been keeping house for her, has gone to Waterford, for a two week's visit with her mother.

Col. F. R. Taylor, who has spent the winter in Portland, Boston and Washington, returned to Norway last week. Col. Taylor is to open his upper cottage on Lake Pennesseewasse as soon as he can get a man and a cook. He will run his steam yacht on the lake this summer as usual, and spend the summer months here.

Surely Browntails.

State Entomologist, Edith M. Patch of Orono, says the samples of moths sent her by C. B. Hamilton of this town are the genuine thing. There were two males and two females.

We wish it might have been otherwise, but they are unquestionably the much dreaded pest. They are here in fairly numerous quantities.

What ought we to do?

The Norway selectmen were interviewed last Saturday, but did not feel inclined to expend any money without first being authorized by the town, so to do, hence not any very considerable campaign will be carried on for the extermination of them at this time, and before a town meeting can be had the eggs will be laid to be harvested in December and January at a largely increased expense.

Batting Averages of the Radcliffes.

The batting average of the different members of the Radcliffe team who have played in three or more games this season are as follows. The average includes all games played except one played with a team from Lewiston that Radcliffes won by a score of 8 to 3, of which no score is available.

Mail Service 100 Years Ago.

It is Interesting to Note the Many Changes Made in Early Methods in the Conveyance of Mail Since the Norway Post-office was Established in 1801.

The first postmaster, William Reed, faithfully discharged the duties of his office for about forty years. He also kept a general store and did a large business for that day. He was an extensive farmer and in all kinds of business a very energetic and persevering man.

Jacob Howe was the first mail carrier and road on horse back with the mail bag and a large pair of saddle bags in which he carried a few newspapers. His route was from Portland through Gray, New Gloucester, Poland and Hebron to Norway, and then to Waterford, Bridgton, Raymond, Standish and Gorham to Portland again, once a week. And the time of arrival at any of these places depended on the state of weather and the condition of the road. A vast difference from what it now is with the railroads, free deliveries and short route stages to the smaller places. At that time the old Portland Gazette and Eastern Argus were about the only papers published in this section.

At the present time about every family receives from one to half a dozen newspapers. The old time carrier had a large horn which he sounded just before his arrival at the post-office and also in neighborhoods where a man or two took a newspaper. The boys or girls would run out to get the paper and soon all the neighborhood would learn the news.

After carrying the mail several years, Mr. Howe was succeeded by a Mr. Smith, Joshua Pool succeeded Smith and William Swain succeeded Pool, all of them carrying the mail and the newspapers in the same way.

In 1812, a Mr. Brown of Waterford, ventured to convey the mail in a one horse wagon and occasionally carry a passenger to Portland or some other place along the route. James Longley, another enterprising man succeeded Brown and run a pair of horses and double sleigh in winter and a four wheeled carriage in summer. He succeeded in building up quite a business.

In 1819 a company of sixteen people was formed and they run a two horse stage from Norway to Bethel and finally to Lancaster, N. H. This was made a profitable line and was run until the railroad was built. And so on down to the present time improvements being made as the population increased and business grew until we have our present very efficient service.

Mr. Reed, who retired from the post-office was succeeded by G. J. Ordway who kept the office a few years. Other early postmasters were Asa Thayer and Elliott Smith.

Growing Apples,

Whether the apple can be best grown with some other crop, whether by cultivation without other crops, or whether the land be kept in turf, are questions which are difficult to answer. Each system has its warm supporters among orchardists. Apple trees should be planted from 32 to 40 feet apart. There is less danger of giving trees too much room than there is in giving too little.

There should be a good circulation of air, and direct sunlight among the trees. Trees planted in sod and left in sod generally make little growth, in the first few years. The ideal location of an apple orchard is a hill sloping in any direction, rather than the level plain, the advantages being that the trees are more open to the light and air, giving better color and flavor to the fruit, and better natural drainage, and will escape the frosts longer.

The apple may well be called the king of our smaller fruits, yet how sadly it is neglected. You see our orchards as you ride along the railroads, the trees all gone to ruin from sheer neglect.

An apple orchard should be cultivated from the time it is planted until it begins bearing, when it may be seeded to clover and other grasses. In the application of artificial fertilizers to an orchard, care should be used. The three substances needed are nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid. Trees, when the soil is fairly fertile, need the little fertilizer for the first few years.

The men who are making money out of their orchards are, as a rule, those who are growing single varieties, and growing them to perfection. The list that will perhaps give the best general satisfaction for market is as follows: Baldwin, Gravenstein, King of Tompkins, Ben Davis, Northern Spy, various Russets and McIntosh Red.

A Guide's Story.

It was at noon one day that Ed Grant, a Maine guide, now with his sons owners of the famous camps at Seven Ponds, and his sportsman, had stopped to cook a little lunch on the bank of a stream when some flattering remarks were made to the guide anent his skill with the feathery blade.

"Well, I'm not a bad hand a-paddlin'," Grant replied, "but there was a crowd I had out in the woods a few years ago that thought to give me learnin'. I taught 'em a thing or two before I got through with 'em, and if it won't tire ye too much to listen while the tea there is boilin', I'll tell ye how I licked the boys from Harvard."

These fellows got to tellin' us guides how they rowed on the Harvard crew and how the guides didn't know the devil of a lot about a row-boat or a canoe. I got a bit warm around the collar of my flannel shirt but I held my tongue. Next day I proposed a race. There were four to be in the race, for we had only four boats, so three of the sports and mesel' were the contestants.

"There was a straight stretch of water for about a mile that ended by our camp, and this was the scene of the triumph of an old hecker of a woodsman over three dandy sports from town. I lifted her fair that day, for my ire was up and the way that canoe leaped and all but flew along the surface of the stream can't be explained in my language.

"Before I had gone 200 yards the water had gotten so hot under me that it burnt a couple of holes in the bottom of the canoe. I looked back but I couldn't see the boys on account of the steam I'd created along the quiet race course. My paddle itself was on fire by this time; the trout came up through the holes in the canoe and were soon boiled in the hot water. The edges of the boat were beginning to burn, but on I went like greased lightnin', so fast only a couple o' quarts o' water leaked in, and never letting up an instant, and when I finally pulled in at the home-stretch things were hot, I can tell ye!

"It took three of us to put the fire out on the canoe and then we sat down and were quietly eating my trout when the three champeen oarsmen came puffin' past the stake."

Oxford County Apple Growing.

An interesting example of the profits of orcharding on the hill farms of Maine if given by Prof. W. M. Munson of the University of Maine, who, as Maine farmers well know, is an enthusiastic advocate of the apple tree as a money producer. The farm and the orchard in question is in Oxford county, and was at the time of its purchase by the present owner in 1886 so obviously intended by Nature for the purpose to which it has since been devoted, that the fields were covered with apple seedlings. Some of these had been grafted and had yielded about 20 barrels of fruit, but were not considered very valuable property, as the whole farm of 136 acres went for $650.

The purchaser at once went to work with an orchard in view, setting 300 trees the first year, and grafting the rest of the seedlings, about 300 in all. For three years he ploughed this young orchard and planted it to corn; the old trees were in pasture, but were given each year an application of eight to fifteen pounds per tree of fertilizer, made up of 200 pounds nitrate of soda, 600 pounds muriate of potash, and 600 pounds ground bone.

Rheumatism Badly Cripples A Baldwinsville Farmer

URIC-O Quickly Cured Him.

Treated 2 Years With a High-Priced Physician With No Success.

Mr. Frank Howe, a prominent farmer in the town of Van Buren, says: "I visited the best Physician in Syracuse, who treated me for about two years for rheumatism. I spent in that time several hundred dollars and seemed to grow worse instead of better each day. Being on crutches and forced to drive to the train and hobbling to the doctor's office became very discouraging, let alone the sleepless nights and fearful hours of pain. I was advised to quit doctoring and try Smith's Specific Uric-O. I purchased a seventy-five cent bottle, took it home and used it that day as directed.

"Those fearful sciatic pains left me, my blood seemed to let loose and flow freely. I felt different and knew the next morning I had found a cure, as I slept and rested well all that night, something I had not done before in two years. I used in all six bottles of Uric-O and have never felt a return of the disease, had no use for crutches or cane since the first day's treatment. I know that Uric-O does not contain Alcohol or opiates and that it works in a wonderful way on the blood, bladder muscles and kidneys and is the only way on earth to cure rheumatism."

Frank Howe.

Baldwinsville, N. H., R. F. D.

Uric-O is sold at seventy-five cents per bottle, is a liquid internal treatment good for rheumatism only, and will cure each and every case of rheumatism if properly used. Samples and circulars will be cheerfully sent by addressing The Smith Drug Company, Syracuse, N. Y.

Uric-O is sold in Norway by Noyes Drug Store, who highly recommends the remedy.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

He Giveth Sleep.

He sees when their footsteps falter when their hearts grow weak and faint;
He marks when their strength is failing, though there be no word of complaint;
He bids them rest for a season, for the pathway has grown too steep,
And, folded in fair green pastures, He giveth His loved ones sleep.

Like weary and worn-out children, that sigh for the daylight's close,
He knows that they oft are longing for home and its sweet repose;
So He calls them in from their labors ere the shadows around them creep,
And silently watching o'er them, He giveth His loved ones sleep.

He giveth it, oh, so gently, as a mother will hush to rest
The babe that she softly pillows so tenderly on her breast;
Forgotten now are the trials and sorrows that made them weep,
For with many a soothing promise, He giveth His loved ones sleep.

He giveth it. Friends the dearest can never this boon bestow;
But He touches the drooping eyelids, and placid the features grow.
Foes may gather about them, and storms may round them sweep—
But, guarding them safe from danger, He giveth His loved ones sleep.

All dread of the distant future, all griefs that oppressed to-day—
Like mists that clear in the sunlight, have noiselessly passed away;
Nor call, nor clamor, can rouse them from slumbers so pure and deep;
For only His voice can reach them, Who giveth His loved ones sleep.

Weep not that their toils are over, weep not that their race is run,
God grant we may rest as calmly when our work, like theirs, is done;
Till then we would yield with gladness our treasures to Him to keep,
And rejoice in the sweet assurance—He giveth His loved ones sleep.

Eri Robinson.

The funeral of Eri Robinson was held last Thursday afternoon from his home on the Swain road. Mr. Robinson has been sick for some time, but has been able a part of the time to attend to some of the work on his farm and take a part in carrying it on. Within a month he made his usual calls on his patrons to whom he sold various kinds of farm produce. He was 78 years old and has been a resident of the town for many years. He was noted for his honesty and straightforward business methods. Mr. Robinson leaves besides his widow three children by his first wife, two of his daughters living in Auburn, and three children by his present wife, these living at home. His funeral was attended by Rev. G. B. Hannaford of the Methodist church.

Dorothy Pudrah is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Stanwood.

Royal Muskoka Hotel.

A handsome brochure has been issued by the Muskoka Lakes Navigation and Hotel Company that is as dainty as "a Queen's lace handkerchief," and which contains 25 illustrations, a map and descriptive literature of interest to the summer tourist or those looking for a desirable summer home.

A postal card to the undersigned will secure a copy, and a visit to this most desirable resort, situated in the "Highlands of Ontario," will be a pleasant revelation. J. Quinlan, D. P. A. G. T. Ry., Montreal.

The Annual Grove Meeting of the Oxford Association of Universalists, will be held at Lake Anasagunticook, Canton, Sunday, August 5th. Special trains will be run as usual for the occasion. The speakers are the Hon. E. P. Bennett, President of the general convention of the Universalist church and the Rev. Carl F. Henry of Cleveland, Ohio. Good music will be in attendance. Those who live on the line of the Grand Trunk can attend by coming to Mechanic Falls on the morning excursion train and then going on the special P. & R. F. train from there. The train will return in ample season to connect with the Grand Trunk excursion train going west. The services will be at 11 a. m. and 1.30 p. m.

The Fiction number of Scribners magazine is made notable by a complete novelette by the author of "The House of Mirth." Mrs. Wharton's story is entitled "Madame de Treymes," and the setting of it is in Paris and has to do with the wrongs of an American woman who married into the French aristocracy. The story is a most subtle presentation of the national point of view in regard to the position of the family in society. It is absorbing both as a character and racial study.

Upton is on Umbagog Lake. It has the Pond in the River. B Pond and Molleechwok Pond and the Cambridge, Dead Cambridge and Swift Cambridge rivers; First and Second B hills and just over in C Surplus is C pond.
The Moose Cave is in Grafton; also the Jail, Mother's Falls on Bear river. A little above is the Grafton Notch. Then there is Bear river, White Cap and Speckle Mt.
Near Locke's Mills in Greenwood are North and South Ponds that are rapidly becoming summer resorts. Greenwood has Twitchell, Indian, Sheepskin, Oversett, Hick's' Mud and Furlong ponds. Its mountains are Abram, Patch, Rock Dundee, Long and Lawrence.
The Great and Little Cold rivers in Stow are rightly named. In the northern part is Still Pond.
In Hebron is Matthews Pond, Streaked Mt., Ben Barrows, and Greenwood hills.
Sugar Loaves, Burnt Bluff and Aunt Hepsey Brown's mountains are in Dixfield; also the Webb's and Newton rivers.
Fryeburg is a net work of ponds and rivers. There is the Lovell's pond made famous by the Indian fight, with its Pine and Loon islands, Kimball, Charles, Horse Shoe, Bog, Kezar, Clay, Davis, Ward, Black, Haley, Round, and Cat ponds. Mt. Tom, Bald Peak, Long, Starks, Pine and Birch hills. The Saco, Old and New Rivers and Kezar rivers wind and circle miles through the town. Here is Fryeburg Academy, one of the oldest schools in the State.
Hartford has Bear, Whitney, Bungermuck, N. E. and Sivan ponds. Twenty Miles river runs between this town and Sumner the entire length and forms the boundary. The hills are The Pinnacle, Holmes, Little and Great Bear Mts.
Hiram has the Saco and Great Ossipee rivers and is surrounded by rivers and ponds except on the northern side. There are the Clemons, Trafton, Spectacle, Middle, Barker, Cranberry, Southeast ponds, and Dead river. The mountains are Cutler, Tear, Peaked, Gould, and Bill Merrill hill.
Lovell has the Kezar Lakes with its cottages and summer people. There is the Kezar river through the lower part of the town; Isacher, Bradley, and Heald ponds; Amos and Sebatos Mts.; Shove, McDaniels and Christian hills.
The Little Androscoggin river runs through Oxford and beside the large Thompson Lake there are the twin Whitney and Hogan ponds, Green, Mud and a part of Matthew's ponds. There is Horse hill very near Norway. East Oxford and Allen hill are pleasant drives. The Summer hotel, the Oxford Spring House is situated on the latter.
Porter is bounded on the south by Ossipee river. Its ponds are Concord, Bickford, Long, Plain, Spectacle, Jaybird and Stanley's. The mountains are Devil's Den, Bald Ledge, Burnt Meadow, Mt. Eagle and Pine hill.
Franklin Plantation has its Mt. Zircon. Milton Plantation has the spring of the same name just across the line. There is Peaked, Glines and Bryant Mts.
Rumford is the home of Rumford Falls, "the city that grew in a night," with its gigantic paper mills and machinery turned by the power of the mighty falls on the Androscoggin. The ferry across from Rumford to Rumford Point and another across the river at Rumford Center are well worth crossing the river on. White Cap, Black and Hemmingway are its highest mountains.
"Sweden hills" is the popular name given to a carriage road that runs through this town. They are hard on horses but the scenery is grand. Keyes, Stearns, Upper, Webber, Duck and Lily are the names of its ponds. Black Mt., Popple and Winn's hills its high lands.
Sumner is a fine farming town. No better farms. The East and West branches of Twenty Miles river run the length of the town. Pleasant, Labrador, Little Labrador and North are its ponds; Black Mt., Spruce, Cushman and Hedge Hog its hills.
Shell, Ellis, Adams, Speckled, Durgin, Red Rock, Bear Mts., and Sugar Hill can all be found in Stoneham. Valuable gems have been mined here.
Riley and Newry are rich in mountains. Riley has two of the prettiest rivers out of doors, Sunday river and Bull's Branch, and a host of smaller streams. There is Miles Notch and Goose Eye Mt. The Bear river runs through Newry, and Sunday River. The farms are along these two valleys. There are the Black, Barkers, Stone, Sunday river, White Cap, Bald, Great Ledge, Puzzle Mts., and Mount Will.
Paris has the Little Androscoggin river. This makes a particularly romantic spot at Snow's Falls. It has Moose and Hall ponds. Singepole Mt. and Mt. Mica, Number Four, Crocker, Ones, Cobble, Jump Off, Paris, Spruce hills, and Berry Ledge are its sightly places.
Among Norway's ponds not before mentioned are Hobbs', North and Mud. The old pulp mill prvilege on Crooked river is a delightful place to spend a few hours. A sail around Lake Pennesseewassee in one of its steamers is a pleasant outing. Gibson Grove on the shore is a fine picnic ground and is open for public use. Glimpses of the cottages, and the cottagers along the wooded shore and on the islands from the passing boats can be had. Central Park between Norway and South Paris is an out of doors summer play ground.
Waterford has been the popular resort for the summer boarder for years. It is a quiet place away from the noise of traffic. The scenery is most picturesque. Artemus Ward, its most illustrious son said, "Whoever saw a village that did not nestle." Surely his home village, Waterford, nestles under Mt. Tir'em and beside Lake Keoka. In the village cemetery he rests, his grave visited by hundreds of his admirers. Waterford has four villages everyone of which is worth visiting. The other ponds are Moose, Bear, Papoose, Bog, Island, Duck, Chaplin and Kezar. Crooked river runs the entire length of the town and it has some good undeveloped water power. Fine pearls have been taken from the fresh water clams in this river.
Birch pond is owned by Hon. John P. Swasey in Roxbury.
Bryant's Pond village is situated in one of the prettiest places in Woodstock, by the side of the pond of the same name, and just across the pond Mt. Christopher rises quite abruptly from its waters. Whitman, Curtis, Molly Ockett, Bluff and Perham are its highest mountains; Great Concord, Little Concord, Shagg and North its ponds.
Washburne pond in Sumner is owned by A. C. Wheeler of South Paris and others.
In the town of Bethel among the famous Oxford hills and still more famous Oxford "bears" the beautifully located Bethel Hill village is situated. From here are magnificent views of the White Mountain range in the extreme northwest of Maine. The Androscoggin river flows in graceful curves through the town from east to west. There are Waterspout, Walker's, Sparrow, Hawk and Ellingwood Mts., and Swan hill.
Just across the Androscoggin river that joins its northern and western boundary is Hanover. A ferry crosses the river near Hanover village. The Howard pond has a number of sportsmen's and private camps. Many of the farms are along the Androscoggin valley. Its mountains are Bean and Bartlett.
The Great Cold river goes through Stow from north to south.
In the Northern part of Oxford county are the great lakes, Welokenebacook, Molechunkamunck, Mooselucmaguntic and Cupsuptic; Magalloway river; Azischohos and Moose Mts., and Mt. Observatory. Here is an almost unbroken forest. It is the fisherman's and hunter's paradise. Hundreds visit here each year and large and finely fitted up camps and hotels, steamers, guides, everything for their comfort are ready for the visitor's use.

Note—If any of our readers know of any other places of interest in this vicinity that it would be well worth ones time to visit, will they please make out a list and send the ADVERTISER. If any one knows more of the attractions of the places mentioned will they send them to us.

Oxford Rugs.

Quite frequently women are seen in our streets canvasing for home made rugs. They have been quite successful in their sales and many of these rugs have found their way into Mechanic Falls homes. These rugs are made in Oxford and are the handiwork of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Pattee.

They are very pretty, both in weave and design, and are made from old carpets and rags. Of the old carpets, only two varieties are used—Brussells and and ingrain. Of rags, both cotton and wool and all colors are used.

Mr. and Mrs. Pattee were formerly weavers in the Oxford woolen mill, and left that position on account of poor health, so they are experts in the matter of weaving.

The loom used is an old-fashioned hand loom, such as New England grandmothers used, and this particular loom is over 100 years old.

The pieces of carpeting are cut into strips five-eighths of an inch wide. They are then run through a reveller, which frays the edges by means of a wheel edged with tiny knives after the cut threads of the warp are shaken out. The warp having been previously prepared, the strips are then woven into reversible rugs. The prettier the carpet the prettier the rugs. Of course, if only one color of carpet is used the rug can have no border, as this is woven in strips of carpet in harmonizing colors.

After the rugs are taken from the loom, the ends of the warp are tied to mrke the fringe.

In the rag rugs, the rags are cut into strips five-eighths of an inch wide, the ends of the strips sewed together, and wound in balls. If the design is to be striped, then each ball is of a separte color; if the rugs are hit-or-miss, then the rags are sewed together regardless of color. The balls are unwound by a crank machine which feeds the strips to the shuttle cylinder, and as woven, the rug is cotinually tamped with a round stick held in the left hand.

The most popular rugs are those with a solid center and broad borders.

Way back in 1835 when "Old Hickory" was President

Schenck's Mandrake Pills were first introduced. Since then, almost every family in the United States has used them, at some time, and they have steadily grown in public favor. They are now a household word all over this country.

WEST PARIS.

Hannibal Curtis.

Hannibal Curtis, a well known and respected citizen died very suddenly last Tuesday evening, July 17. Mr. Curtis was affected with a kidney trouble. All through last autumn and winter he was scarcely able to leave the house, but since settled going this spring his health has been improving so that he made and cared for his garden, walked down street as he wished, and was even planning on a job of haying on the day of his death. That same night he seemed as well as usual when Mrs. Curtis left him alone to attend a meeting of the Rebekah lodge. Later he was seen by and talked with the milk man, he saying, "I will take care of it," which it was found that he did, some of neighbors also saw him standing in the stable door and afterwards closing the door. On Mrs. Curtis' return from the lodge she found the house all open and Mr. Curtis in his room lying fully dressed across the bed as if death had come instantly and without pain, the indications being that life had been extinct about two hours.

Mr. Curtis was born in Woodstock in 1845, and was the son of Rancel and Elizabeth (Dacy) Curtis. When a small child his family removed to Greenwood where he remained until young manhood. On June 12, 1870 he united in marriage to Juliaette F. Fickett, and not long after they came to this town to make their home, where they have since remained. His business was that of a blacksmith and carriage maker, and his reputation was that of an excellent workman and an honorable and honest citizen. On account of his health he discontinued his blacksmith work some ten years ago, and since that time had been engaged in the lumber business to some extent.

The funeral service which was largely attended was held in the Free Baptist church Thursday, at 2 p. m., and was conducted by Rev. A. K. Baldwin of South Paris, with music by the Universalist choir. All places of business were closed during the time. Granite lodge F. and A. M., West Paris lodge, No. 15, I. O. O. F., and Onward Rebekah lodge, of which orders the deceased was a member, attended in a body and acted as escort to the funeral procession.

The church was appropriately decorated with flowers, an anchor of hot house flowers from the relatives was placed on the casket and several set pieces were arranged by the members of the Rebekah lodge. Mrs. Curtis and relatives have the sympathy of our community in their unexpected bereavement and by these means united to express their interest and kindly spirit.

Amos C. Judkins.

Amos C. Judkins of Central Avenue, Newtonville, Mass., died on June 4th, after a short illness at the Newton hospital. Deceased was a native of Norway, where he was born 69 years ago. In 1866 he went to Boston and established himself in the wagon business, continuing the same about 34 year. Six years ago, he changed to easier business in which he continued till his death. He had lived in Newtonville 31 years. He did much for public improvements.

In his youth, as a strong, ambitious, kind hearted, country boy, he early became the staff of a feeble father, which devotion was never lessened until his father died in his arms. He leaves a widow and one daughter, both of whom were in Europe ready to sail for home at the time of his death. The remains were placed in the receiving vault until the family returned from abroad.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Death of George W. Porter.

Many of our home readers will remember the sudden death of our esteemed occasional correspondent, Eliphalet Porter of Waterford, which occured in this town two years ago last May. Mr. Porter left a widow and one son, George W. Porter. Mrs. Porter has been called to mourn the sudden decease of this son, a young man of much promise and beloved by all who knew him.

His health having been somewhat impaired through close attention to his business, that of a surveyor, he spent the last two years of his life in Aiken, S. C., and where only last October he married Rosalie Wyman of that city.

The remains, in the care of Rev. Mr. Jones of Aiken, were brought to his birthplace, Woburn, Mass., where the funeral took place on July 13th.

The sudden death of Mr. Porter has left a large circle of friends and relatives in mourning for he was greatly beloved by all. Mrs. Porter is now a resident of South Waterford.
